YOLO! It's Pizza Time @ Mikey's Original New York Pizza, Bangsar

It was quite a random choice for dinner the other day but I was quite excited to give the pizzas a try since they really look pretty awesome on pictures!

The restaurant looks decently simple, with a setting that truly reminds you of those diners in New York. I've never been to New York but yes in movies and TV series it does look like this! :p

Order and pay at their counter and you will be given a plate, while they prepare the pizza then serve to you.

While the pizzas looks pretty appetising too in real thing, we were obviously not too glad to find out that they are all pre-make pizzas (only heat up a slice for you whenever you order). But of course the good side of it is that you get to try different flavours in stead of one whole pizza in one flavour! The pizza slices are also damn huge, which comes with a huge price tag too of course. But as a first timer, we went ahead and ordered nonetheless.

Wild Mushroom Pizza, RM10.88.

The Tony Soprano, RM15.88.

Classic New York Pizza, RM8.88.

In general, all pizzas we tried were quite satisfying with a thin crust which is crispy and nice to chew on. My personal favourite has to be the Tony Soprano, which comes with sliced steak, pepperoni and whole loads of other ingredients. It was tasty yet not as rich as what you would expect from the look of the pizza. I also appreciate the fact that they use big-ass Portobello mushrooms as their ingredients which makes their pizza a little more worthy of the price.

Boneless Buffalo Wing, oh fiery!!!

Our drinks.

We had an upgrade to a set meal (RM13 extra) which comes with Buffalo Wings and a drink. I love those super spicy Buffalo Wings but they are really not for the faint-hearted ones. :p

Sinful and #fatdieme dinner but did I just mentioned YOLO???

With another drink (RM8) and service charge (Say what? We had to order at the counter ourselves), we paid RM60.05 for the super tummy-filling dinner. It really is an expensive meal, but I trust the fact that the pizza are of good quality and that they filled our tummy really well makes it all up for the price. It is surely, not an everyday place to go based on the price, but good pizzas to try out at least once! :)

P/S: They do sell whole pizza too but be prepared to pay RM60 and above for a whole pizza.
